		Comprehension	Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow: Being a ghost is not all fun, especially when you are only a young one. There is so much to learn, and it is easy to make mistakes. I suppose I started off badly so it is my own fault that I have not yet got my ghost's licence. As a tiny child I used to drink my tea from a saucer while other ghosts used cups. My parents said this was a bad sign—almost human, they said. 5 Somehow things grew worse for me. I failed my entrance examination to the witches' college but stayed on at school for another eighty years. Meanwhile I had a few small successes but they are nothing to boast about really. Something always seemed to go wrong in the end. I changed into a mouse one day and frightened two small girls but their brother came in and nearly knocked my head off with a broom. 10 Of course, I go to the local ghost-school and my teacher tells me that things have changed; life is harder for ghosts and their future is poor. Sometimes he tells us of the good old days when he could frighten practically anyone. The worst lesson for me is the one on changing shape. Most ghosts find this quite easy but it has always been hard for me. I cannot always pronounce the magic words and sometimes I forget them altogether. In our last examination I had to go out and frighten a small girl who lives nearby. I intended to change into a headless chicken but something went wrong and I found I was a kitten. The little girl picked me up and started to cuddle me until I managed to vanish. This was most embarrassing and I failed my test completely. The other pupils in my class saw all this and just laughed at me. 15 20 Not long after that I had to frighten the dog in the house next to ours. I was going to change into a tiger but something went wrong again. I turned into a rat and the dog snapped off half my tail before I could escape. For that mistake I was expelled from the youth section of the ghosts' Magic Circle.	https://youtu.be/V33rQs4SmZw
